

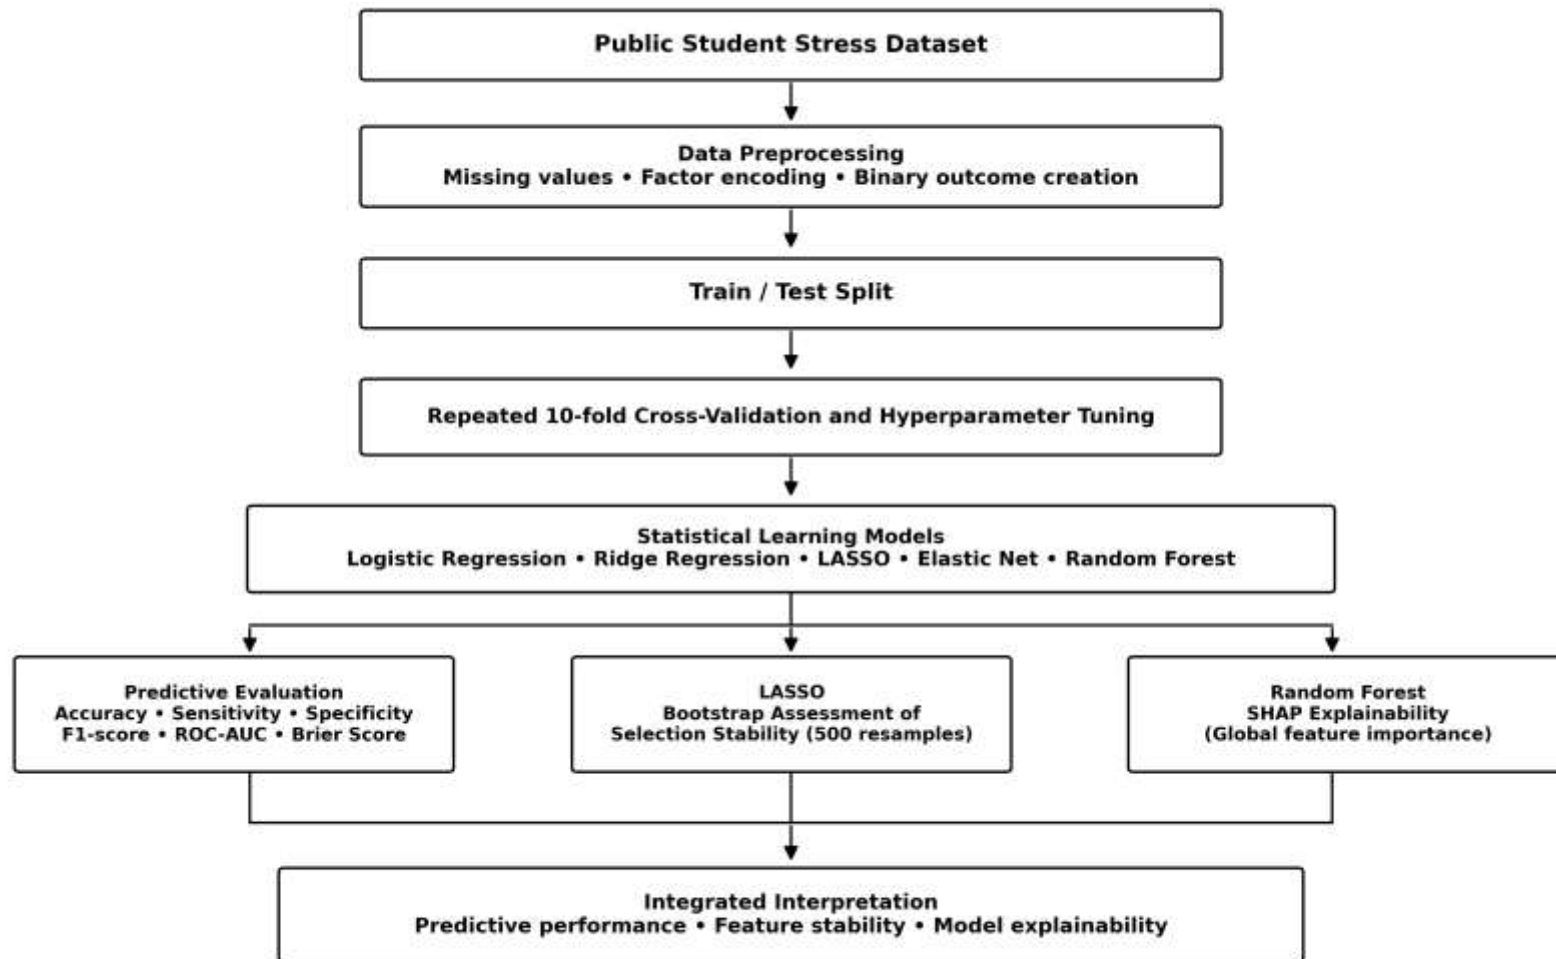

Fig. 1. Workflow of the interpretable statistical learning framework. After model development, three complementary branches are evaluated in parallel: predictive performance of all candidate models; bootstrap assessment of LASSO selection stability; and SHAP-based explainability of the Random Forest model. The branches converge to integrate predictive performance, feature stability, and model explainability.